INSPIRING one another

Never stopping in her quest for human rights—
—not for illness, not for age, not for opposition, not for disappointments—
Susan B. Anthony inspires us still to be all we can be at every age of our lives.

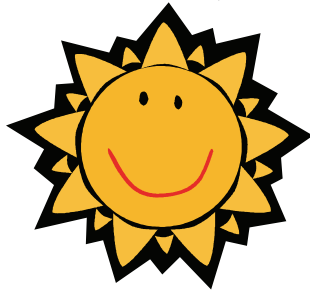

Come and let her life stories inspire you;
come and inspire one another with yours.

*Enjoy a tour of the House,
share your stories of inspiration over a delicious catered lunch, stroll to the park to see the life-size bronze statue of Susan B. Anthony and Frederick Douglass having tea, and discover the beautiful architecture in this wonderful 19th-century neighborhood.*

Cost: $30 per person. Group minimum: 12 people.
For reservations, please call Annie Callanan at 235-6124, ext. 19

And now a few words from our INSPIRING One Another guests:

The price was more than worth it! The lunch was so well presented and delicious!

I had always wanted to visit the Susan B. Anthony House—it was even better than I thought it would be!

Everything was so much more beautiful than I had imagined—I love the architecture of the neighborhood—and I love the park!
